Modern Political Trials
Winter Term, 2012

Falconer Hall, Room 1 (FA 1)
84 Queen's Park

Thursdays: 10:30 a.m. to 12:20 p.m.

What are political trials? According to one recent definition, these are trials in which the outcome "depends on an evaluation of the defendant's political attitudes and activities." Among other things, this seminar course will test that definition, and begins with the hypothesis that there can be other sorts of political trials, in which courtroom arguments speak to issues of political importance in different societies. Many different circumstances, it should be come clear, can contribute to making trials political. To examine these propositions, we will look at European, North American and Israeli trials in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. The approach will be interdisciplinary, and will draw upon legal, political, historical and social analyses of the various trials selected for the course.

This year's topics, together with the trials that highlight them, will be:

- Politics and Madness: Daniel McNaughtan and the Insanity Defense, 1843
- Treason: The Queen v. Louis Riel, 1885
- Homosexuality: The Trials of Oscar Wilde, 1895
- Terrorism: Dealing with the Assassinations of Simon Petlura, 1927 and King Alexander of Yugoslavia, 1934
- Show Trial: The Case of the Anti-Soviet Bloc of Rights and Trotskyites, 1938
- International Criminal Law I: The Trial of the Major German War Criminals at Nuremberg, 1945-46
- International Criminal Law II: Subsequent Proceedings at Nuremberg under Control Council Law No. 10
- Holocaust: The Attorney General of Israel v. Adolf Eichmann, 1962
- Atrocity: My Lai and the Trial of Lieutenant William Calley, 1970
- Crimes against Humanity: Touvier-Barbie-Papon, 1964-99
- Law and History: Irving v. Penguin, Limited & Deborah Lipstadt, 2000

Students should purchase the case book for this course, available in the Faculty of Law Bookstore:

Modern Political Trials: LAW 342H1S/HIS 1271 (Faculty of Law, 2011)

Students may also wish to consult the remarkable Web site "Famous Trials," by Professor Douglas Linder of the University of Missouri-Kansas City School of Law, for a wealth of material on "famous trials":

Office Hours:

Tuesdays and Fridays, 9:00 to 10:00 a.m., or by appointment. My office is in Massey College, II-3. I can be most easily reached via email: michael.marrus@utoronto.ca or by telephone at Massey (416-946-0648).

Email:

I will respond quickly to all appropriate email messages, and this is the easiest way to reach me – especially for communications regarding office appointments, specific reading assignments, etc. Generally speaking, questions that could be of interest to all students should be raised in class.

Course Requirements and Grade Distribution:

Essays: One short essay (1500 words) comparing two of the trials discussed in the course, due in class following Reading Week, on March 1, and worth 15 percent; and one longer essay (7500 words), entitled "Reflections on Political Trials," drawing upon themes discussed in the course, due on April 25 (Wednesday) at 10:00 a.m., and worth 70 percent. Please note: The deadline for the final submission of papers is fixed by the faculty and I cannot grant extensions beyond that point except in emergency situations and then through a university established process.

Participation: 15 percent, based on attendance and class participation.

Academic Misconduct:

Students should know and understand the University's Code of Behavior on Academic Matters, particularly its sections dealing with plagiarism. For further information, please see <http://www.utoronto.ca/govcncl/pap/policies/behaveac.html>
